Summary of Major Changes incorporated in this revision to the policy: This is a new policy.

1. Background

- A. Under very rare circumstances, the campus of Lewis-Clark State College or one of its centers may close on a day when classes or final exams had been regularly scheduled. It is also possible, that the campus may open with a delayed start. Only the college President or his/her designee is authorized to close campus or delay opening. When these events occur during final examination week, a protocol is needed to ensure a schedule such that exams may be given and that all grades are processed in a timely manner.
- B. In the event of a campus closure or delayed start during the period of final examinations, make-up examination times will be assigned as described here:
- 1) Final examinations that were missed due to a campus closure or a delayed start would be made up at their regularly scheduled time on the Friday of the examination period.
 - 2) Final examinations that were missed due to a second day of cancelled class or delayed start would be made up at their regularly scheduled time on the Saturday following the examination period.
 - 3) Final examinations that were missed due to a third day of cancelled class or delayed start would be made up at their regularly scheduled time on the Sunday following the examination period.
 - 4) Final examinations that were missed due to a fourth day of cancelled class or delayed start would be made up at their regularly scheduled time on the Monday following the examination period.

- C. For example, if the campus was closed on Tuesday of the final examination period and there was a delayed start on Wednesday, examinations normally scheduled for Tuesday would take place at their regularly scheduled time on Friday and examinations that had been missed on Wednesday would take place at their regularly scheduled time on Saturday.
- D. In all circumstances, students and faculty should visit www.lcsc.edu to obtain the latest information about the status of the campus and students should regularly check their LC email for communication from their instructors and the college administration.
- E. Students and faculty are advised to take note of this final examination make-up schedule when planning end-of-semester travel.
- F. Grades will be due on noon on the third day following the last exam day.
