ROUND BALL CLUB INFORMATION

2011-2012 MEN'S ROSTER

ABOUT THE COACH BRANDON RINTA

The Round Ball Club was created as a means to assist in raising funds, creating awareness of Men's Basketball in our community, and to provide our student-athletes with an opportunity to interact with this community.

By sponsoring a Men's Basketball player, your generous donation will assist the Men's Basketball program in providing it's student-athletes with much needed scholarship assistance. Just let Coach Rinta know who you wish to sponsor. Members may also contribute to the Round Ball Club without sponsoring a player.

As a member of the Round Ball Club, you automatically become a member of the Warrior Athletic Association. You will receive invitations to all WAA sponsored events, as well as the additional benefits listed in the chart on the back side of this brochure. There are multiple levels of giving designed to meet most budgets.

To become a member, just complete the form and return it with your chosen level of giving to the address provided.

Your level of involvement is completely up to you. Round Ball Club members are also invited to attend all WAA events and will receive the WAA newsletter, filled with information about Warrior Athletics and upcoming events. You do not, however, have to attend any of the functions. As a valued member, your level of involvement is your choice.

For further information, please contact Coach Brandon Rinta at 208-792-2865.

In April Lewis-Clark State College officials were excited to announce that Brandon Rinta will be the new head coach of its men's basketball program. A Pacific Northwest native, Rinta has been coaching at the NCAA Division I and II levels for the past 10 years. Most recently he was at Northwest Nazarene University as the Associate Head Coach. In his time at NNU, he helped guide the Crusaders to their most successful seasons since the program moved to NCAA Division II. During his five years there NNU tied the record for most wins in a season, claimed its first postseason win, and earned its first national and regional ranking. The team also posted the highest team GPA in the Great Northwest Athletic Conference 3 out of those 5 years. Prior to NNU, Rinta served as an assistant at Eastern Washington University. During his 5 years there he helped form the most successful teams in the program's history. Those teams competed in the postseason every year, made it to the Big Sky Championship game 3 times, won the Big Sky Conference title once, won EWU's first ever Big Sky Tournament Championship, and participated in the NIT and NCAA Tournaments for the first time in school history.

"I am really excited for the opportunity I have been given here at Lewis-Clark State College," Rinta says. "The support here by the school and community makes this a special place to work. I'm looking forward to working with the group of guys we have coming in and think that you will enjoy watching them play this season. We would love your support and hope that you choose to invest in these student-athletes lives by becoming a member of the Round Ball Club."
