Welcome Back !

I know that since it is already midterms, it is a little late for a “welcome back” but we’re glad to have you all back in school – and welcome to all of our new students.

We’ve had a few staff changes again. Most of you know that Margie McLaughlin retired last January (no we haven’t let her go, she’s still working part-time). Jeanette Gara-Betzold has been hired as the Retention Specialist and has also taken over the Science component of our program.

Don Willows has been with us for awhile wearing a couple of hats. In his current position as the Academic Advisor/Career Specialist he will be working with students in a variety of ways, one of which will be helping Margie review students’ papers. Feel free to stop by his office in RCH 210, say “Hi!” and schedule an appointment to work with him on career/degree choices or get help with a paper. He can also tutor business related subjects.

Hopefully you have all found our lab in RCH 218 and have met Heather Boydell, our new AmeriCorp volunteer. She has a wealth of knowledge and information to share with our students. Heather is also employed in the English Institute on campus.

Ashlie Anttila worked as our Program Aide for about six months but has taken a position with Wells Fargo Bank. We’re working on finding a replacement, and should have someone in place by December. In the meantime, please bear with us as we play musical chairs to keep the office staffed.

If you haven’t met all of our new staff members, please feel free to stop in and say “Hi!”

TRiO Lab Update

The TRiO Learning Lab is located in Reed Centennial Hall, Rm 218. There are several computers available, and textbooks for some courses that can be used in the lab. It's a great place to study, work on a paper, and get help if you need it. Come check it out!

Spring Courses Offered Through TRiO!

With Spring 2008 registration gearing up, we would like you to know about the many course options available through TRiO Student Support Services!

There will be one section of SD110 - Application of Learning Strategies, MW 10:30-11:45am. In this course you are a part of a learning community (a group of students taking common classes) and we can assist you in registering for specific sections of courses that you need. This is a great course to help you with time management, study skills, test taking strategies, learning styles and how to tap into the resources that your college has to offer. Come to the TRiO office to sign up!

Do you feel like you need extra instruction or assistance in math or science courses? We have several sections of supplemental instruction to help you succeed in Math, Anatomy, Physiology, and Chemistry. Sign up with Linda for SD097(Math) or Jeanette for SD095 (Science).

Want to improve your computer skills? Sign up with Don for SD096 (Computer Applications) and he will work to develop a learning plan for you.

Remember, tutors in the lab and staff in the TRiO office are also available for one-on-one appointments to assist with other courses and individual assignments!
