Want to Get Involved?

Want to meet new people in your major? Join a student club! Students interested in physical activity, fitness, and sport could consider joining the Kinesiology Club. Contact club advisors Dr. Lee Ann Wiggin (lawiggin@lcsc.edu) or Jessica Savage (jjsavage@lcsc.edu) to learn more about upcoming club activities. Interested in becoming a teacher? Considering joining the Council for Exceptional Children (CEC) student organization. Contact club advisors Dr. Michelle Doty (mddoty@lcsc.edu) or Dr. Roddran Grimes (rdgrimes@lcsc.edu) to learn more about what the CEC will be doing this spring.
Kinesiology Students Preparing to Present at Regional Conference

Kinesiology students Paisley Marks, Michael Van Peel, and John Robinson will present their research on anthropometric differences between skinfold, hydrostatic weighing, bioimpedence, and Dexa testing at the upcoming Northwest American College of Sports Medicine (ACSM) Conference in Bend, OR. Kinesiology faculty advisor, Dr. Clay Robinson, will co-present with the students. Kinesiology Instructor Jessica Savage and five additional students will be attending and participating in the conference proceedings and the student knowledge bowl competition.

“ACSM is the largest sports medicine and exercise science organization in the world. With more than 50,000 members and certified professionals worldwide, ACSM is dedicated to advancing and integrating scientific research to provide educational and practical applications of exercise science and sports medicine” (“Who We Are, n.d.).

Attendance at the regional ACSM Conference is just one of the many opportunities students in the Education and Kinesiology Division have to engage in professional development through conference attendance. If you’re interested in attending a conference, ask your faculty advisor about different opportunities and how to get involved.

Teacher Education Students Participating in Upcoming Tools for Life Conference

Teacher Education students and special education faculty member, Dr. Michelle Doty, will participate in the 2015 “Tools for Life” Conference scheduled to be held in early March in Moscow, ID. In addition to attending sessions and expanding their knowledge base, LCSC students will also serve as College Mentors. As a College Mentor, LC students will assist high school students attending with participation in all the events the conference has to offer. If you’re interested in serving as a mentor, please contact the mentor coordinator, Dr. Michelle Doty (mddoty@lcsc.edu).

“Tools for Life is for transitioning youth with disabilities and all who support them. Attendees include educators, special educators, therapists, counselors, service providers, job developers, other rehabilitation specialists, and especially high school students with disabilities and their families.” (“Tools for Life”, n.d.).
