

History 333: Africa and The World (Since 1885)

A survey of African and African-Caribbean History from “The New Imperialism” (1885-1918) to the present. Particular focus will be paid to the nationalist and internationalist movements seeking to resolve the colonial problem and to the colonial legacy.

Although some lecture will be provided, this course will be organized as a roundtable discussion of assigned readings.

For a more comprehensive look at the potential readings and course organization go to www.lcsc.edu/emartin

Prerequisites: Eng 102 and Junior/Senior Standing: Hist 102 strongly recommended, OR PERMISSION OF THE INSTRUCTOR

