EARTH WALK

The Lewis-Clark State College Center for Arts & History provided arts education outreach to elementary schools in the region leading up to the arts festival.

Participating teachers and classes worked with Work Scholar Josie Hafer, Arts Educator Kelsey Grafton, and Center Intern Alyssa Smith to create collaborative projects from recycled materials to showcase as part of the Earth Walk display at Art Under the Elms.

While you are enjoying the festival, follow the blue path on the event map, and look to the trees along the route to view the contributions from each class.

Thank you to all who participated in this Earth Day activity!

SUPPORT THE CENTER

Thank you to all the community members and LC State faculty, staff, and students who have supported the Center for Arts & History through your generous contributions, public support, and your attendance at our exhibitions and events. We rely on your support to provide the Lewis-Clark Valley and its visitors with arts education and cultural enrichment programs.

The Center extends special thanks to Lewis-Clark State College administration, including Dr. Cynthia Pemberton, president; and Jennie Jones Hall, director of college advancement and executive director of the LC State Foundation.

The Center's programs would not be possible without the help of LC State faculty and staff: Kelsey Grafton, arts educator; and Con Schafman, administrative assistant; as well as our dedicated team of student employees: Work Scholars Josie Hafer and Alahna Menter, Student Assistants Kelani Smith and Zoe Undercuffler, and Center Interns Beth Hawker, Alyssa Smith, and Jeffrey Wing.

We would also like to thank our colleagues in the Humanities Department who contributed programming and support to this year's Art Under the Elms festival, including faculty members Jennifer Anderson, Sarah Graham, Nancy Lee-Painter, and Jef Peterson.

The Center is continuously grateful for the commitment and support of the Idaho Commission on the Arts, a partner agency of the National Endowment for the Arts.

Last but not least, thank you to all our volunteers for their time! We hope you enjoy the festival!

-- Emily Johnsen / Director, Center for Arts & History

If you have enjoyed our programs this year and would like to support our efforts in providing free arts programming to the public, please consider making a donation to the Center for Arts & History.
